

Slow lanes

Caltrans officials are considering ways to reduce congestion in the region's carpool lanes. Many miles of lanes, as shown below, do not meet minimum federal standards, which require that traffic flow at 45 mph or faster during rush hours.

----- Existing car pool lane ——— Does not meet federal standards

Source: Caltrans

Los Angeles Times